VICTIM'S ATTORNEYS FILE ADDITIONAL LAWSUIT IN CASE OF LAUSD WRESTLING COACH CONVICTED OF CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

Irvine, California - Lawyers representing multiple alleged victims of child sexual abuse by former LAUSD wrestling coach Terry Gillard filed a lawsuit on behalf of John SD Doe, another alleged victim.

In May 2019, a jury in the San Fernando Superior Court convicted Gillard on 37 felony and 10 misdemeanor counts, including lewd acts on children under the age of 16, oral copulation with a minor, procuring children to engage in lewd acts, and child molesting. The verdicts were reached after a seven-week trial Gillard faces a possible sentence of life in prison.

The newly-filed lawsuit alleges that Gillard pressured John SD Doe and other child wrestlers into having sexual activities with Gillard and with each other while Gillard watched, all to satisfy his own deviant interests.

Child sexual abuse survivor advocates at Manly, Stewart & Finaldi and The Senators (Ret.) Firm, LLP, have filed civil lawsuits on behalf of all but two of the victims named in the criminal case as well as other victims who were not part of the criminal case. The lawsuit names Gillard, Los Angeles Unified School District, and the Boys and Girls Club of San Fernando Valley as defendants.

"This is the ninth alleged child victim of Terry Gilliard that we represent. The sad fact is that LAUSD administrators were aware of multiple reports of alleged sexual misconduct by Gillard and other 'red flags' well in advance of his arrest, including allegations that he sexually harassed a female LAUSD employee for which he was suspended. Yet, LAUSD allowed him to be alone with young children on and off campus. LAUSD must be brought to justice for their failure to protect the children under their supervision and care," said victim's attorney Morgan Stewart, a partner in Manly, Stewart & Finaldi.

Evidence was presented during the criminal trial that Gillard sexually abused children as far back as 1991, when he directed an 11-year old to have sex with an adult woman in the backseat of Gillard's Cadillac, while he watched from the front seat, and then engaged in a "threesome" with the adult woman and the child. Other evidence showed that Gillard directed child wrestlers between 2014 and 2017 to perform sex acts while he watched, including in his vehicles and in a van owned and maintained by the Boys and Girls Club. Video and testimonial evidence also showed that Gillard sexually assaulted at least two female children who were on the wrestling team at LAUSD's John Francis Polytechnic High School.

"LAUSD has a long and brutally destructive history of failing to protect young children under its care from sexual predators that it employs. Worse, LAUSD routinely engages in victim-shaming, claiming as it does here that children were sexually abused because of their own "carelessness." LAUSD's administrators and School Board members need to be held accountable by parents and voters for this disgusting conduct," said victim's attorney Ronald Labriola, a partner in The Senators (Ret.) Firm.
